Public Misled On Cuban Story, Rep. Arends Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Mike Mansfield today challenged Republican contentions that President Kennedy has misled the public and has denied congressional leaders intelligence information on Cuba.

Mansfield, the Senate Democratic leader, said in an interview that Rep. Leslie C. Arends, R-Ill., had impugned the President's patriotism by charging Kennedy knew before Oct. 14 the Russians were installing offensive missiles on the island.

Arends' charge—made Monday night at a GOP political rally in St. Petersburg, Fla.—was that the administration is not even "telling the full story of Cuba." at closed door briefings of leaders of both parties.

Mansfield had this reply: "This congressman knows better than that. He has attended these meetings and I don't recall that he ever raised any questions or expressed any doubts."

More Russians Leave
In other developments related to the Cuban situation:

Informed sources said the Soviet Union appears to be slowly withdrawing some of its troops from Cuba. They said daily reports come in on ship sailings from Cuba and that apparently a few more troops are leaving every day.

Sens. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., and Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., suggested a Senate probe of bi-monthly payments which four American women have been receiving since their husbands apparently died on a flying mission during the 1961 Bay of Pigs invasion attempt.

Arends, the deputy House Republican leader and a member of the House Armed Services Committee, said Lt. Gen. Thomas P. Gerrity had testified that the Air Force "went into high gear to support the Cuban plan on the tenth of October." This was four days before Kennedy said he had received the first hard information on offensive missile sites.

News "Controlled"
"The lords of the Kennedy dynasty have put into effect a system for controlling the news so that we can learn only what they want us to know," Arends said.

Mansfield said it was true that prior to the President's action clamping a quarantine on Cuba, Marines were moving toward the Caribbean, the Strategic Air Command had been out on "an extraordinary alert, the Navy was put on a wartime basis and the Army was alerted, with many elements placed in a state of wartime readiness."

"But I resent any allegation that this administration has not been telling the full story of Cuba at leadership meetings," he said. "It is just not true."

Building Watchers Given Soft Music

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Side-walk superintendents at the First National Bank building under construction here are getting red carpet treatment.

Speakers are being installed to pipe soft music. Eight buttons are being mounted on the barricades for spectators to push. The gadgets give a recorded progress report on the rising 25-story building.

Centennial Beard Or Shave Deadline Is Coming Friday

The first night of reckoning for Brothers of the Brush and the Clean Shaven is coming Friday when Escanaba's "Centennial Cops" will be on the prowl. On March 8 between the hours of 7 and 9 p. m. a squad of Escanaba's "funniest" will be selling buttons and enforcing the Centennial beard or shaving permit regulation.

According to Joseph Heller and Clyde Nyquist, co-chairmen of the beard committee, this will be the first of nine Friday nights between now and the centennial week that will feature enforcement of the "Beard Law."

The schedule is as follows: March 8 and 29; April 19; May 3 and 17; June 7, 14, 21 and 28. All men who live or work in Escanaba will be expected to have a "beard" (defined as a beard, mustache, or long sideburns or a combination thereof) or a shaving permit or face "arrest" and "fine" by the Centennial Court which will be presided over by Bob Strum each Friday evening.

No fine shall exceed $3 (the cost of a shaving permit) and a short term in the centennial clink. The women are not to be forgotten in this and will also face similar penalties if they aren't wearing a bonnet or centennial belle button.

All centennial buttons, which includes the beard club at $1, shaving permit at $3, Centennial Belle at $1, and the booster at $3, can be purchased from the Centennial Cops and are also available at Centennial Headquarters, Gust Asp, Ernie's Party Store, Nelson's Cash Store, Hurley's Beauty Salon, LaPetite Shop and at all barbershops in Escanaba.

The booster button selling at $3 is probably the best bargain of the celebration as it will admit free the bearer (and his family) to the various centennial events carrying an admittance charge, the only exception being the centennial ball.

"When warmer weather arrives all persons visiting the downtown area are encouraged to dress in period clothing and join in the spirit of these Friday evenings. The committee wishes to express its desire for the wholehearted cooperation of all persons in regard to the beard law enforcement," said Heller and Nyquist.

Metal Companies Fined $158,000 For Price Fixing

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—Eight brass and copper companies and five of their executives were fined a total of $158,000 in U.S. District Court Monday on charges of price fixing.

All were found guilty by Judge M. Joseph Blumenfeld on Feb. 11 after they pleaded no contest to charges of conspiracy to fix prices of pipes and tubing for a five-year period beginning in 1956.

Three other firms and two executives pleaded innocent to the charges and are awaiting trial. During the period covered by the indictment the accused companies' sales averaged $360 million a year, about 90 per cent of U.S. sales.

The fines against the corporations ranged from $6,000 to $25,000. Those against the executives ranged from $3,500 to $7,500.

The corporations and the fines levied against them were: Revere Copper and Brass, Inc., New York, $25,000; Calumet and Hecla, Inc., Chicago, $25,000; Bridgeport Brass Co., Bridgeport, Conn., $22,000; Phelps Dodge Copper Products, New York, $15,000; Mueller Brass Co., Port Huron, Mich., $15,000; Progress Manufacturing Co., Philadelphia, $14,000; Cerro Corp., New York, $10,000; and Triangle Conduit and Cable Co., Inc., New Brunswick, N.J., $6,000.

The executives and their fines were: Edgar Dunlaevy, president of Phelps-Dodge, $7,500; Richard Lewin, vice president of Cerro Corp., $5,000; John Sunser, a former Calumet and Hecla executive now with Bridgeport Brass, $5,000; Richard Allen, Bridgeport Brass, $5,000; and Alfred Dappert, Mueller Brass, $3,500.

All the defendants were given until April 1 to pay their fines. The companies and executives that have pleaded innocent are: Anaconda American Brass Co., Anaconda Manufacturing Co., and Chase Brass & Copper Co., all of Waterbury, Conn.; Justice Lockwood, vice president in charge of sales at Anaconda; and Maurice Liston Jr., sales manager of Scovill.

Policeman Nabbed With Body In Car
MOUNT CLEMENS (AP)—A slain man in the trunk of their car, a Detroit policeman and an ex-convict companion were seized at a road block today.

Shortly afterwards, the policeman, after being shot and wounded in an attempt at flight, admitted he killed the man, officers said, but gave no specific reasons or how he had done it.

Inspector George Bloomfield of the Detroit Police Homicide Bureau, here with fellow Motor City officers in the investigation, said Patrolman Forrest A. Foster, 35, admitted the killing.

Foster, a precinct patrolman who managed prize fighters, and his companion, Harry F. Command, 34, an Indian, ex-pugilist and prison parolee, were stopped at the road block on a tip from a garage worker-sheriff's deputy.

Officers said the two apparently were on their way to dispose of the body in some secret place. In the trunk of their car was the body of a tall Negro. He had been shot once in the head. The bullet entered near the left ear and came out of the top of the head.

Bloomfield said Foster told him he could only identify the man by the name of "Elliott," but that he had had "a lot of trouble with him."

The road block arrests followed a series of sensations during the night.

Edward Keller, assistant prosecutor, said Command, a window washer and longtime friend of Foster, declared the policeman called him to his house Monday night saying he was "in trouble."

Command said Foster told him he had killed a man.

At the Foster house Command said he was taken to the garage where he saw the body of a man in Foster's car.

Keller quoted Command as saying he conceded after argument to a plan to take the body to a lake or river.

The two men were en route to Algonac in Command's car when they got a flat tire and had to drive to a garage for help, Keller said.

At the garage an employee became suspicious and contacted police. The road block arrest followed.

Hollywood Studio Back In Business; Makes 14 Movies
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Darryl F. Zanuck says he is going to put 20th Century-Fox studio back in the business of making motion pictures.

When he took over the troubled studio last summer practically his first action was to close it.

Zanuck said the studio will make at least 14 movies this year at a cost of $50 million and all but four of them will be filmed in Hollywood.

Zanuck said filming abroad does not save money. "You pay less in salaries but you take twice as long," he said.

Lord Home Wants To Be Replaced

LONDON (AP)—The Daily Sketch predicts that Edward Heath, Britain's chief negotiator in the abortive Common Market talks, will replace Lord Home as foreign secretary within a few weeks.

The Sketch, a conservative paper, said Home is anxious to quit.

Heath, 46, is deputy foreign secretary and chief government spokesman on foreign affairs in the House of Commons.

Castro's Brother Says Soviet Guns Can Defend Cuba
HAVANA (AP)—Prime Minister Fidel Castro's brother Raul claims there aren't any offensive weapons in Cuba because those based in the Soviet Union can rain destruction all the way across the Atlantic.

Armed Forces Minister Raul Castro also told a cheering crowd Monday night that even if the United States doesn't want any more Cuban refugees, "as far as we are concerned the more who leave the better."

Cuba Bristles With Guns And Busy Russians
WASHINGTON (AP)—Two of the most striking impressions you get in Cuba are that there are so many guns and so many Russians.

Almost half of the people carry machine guns, rifles or pistols. To a Canadian, it seems a little unusual to be greeted by a hotel doorman carrying a Czechoslovak burp gun or by a pistol-packing room clerk. Militia boys and girls, some as young as 15, carry guns. One young militia girl I saw was carrying a rifle almost bigger than she was.

I went to a Russian motion picture one evening and noticed that many boys and girls out on dates at the movies lugged along their guns—a somewhat incongruous sight as they held hands with one hand and carried their guns with the other.

Very Few Chinese
While initially at least there is a measure of alarm at the sight of so many guns, you get a feeling of some frustration at the sight of so many Russians. Cubans young and old constantly mistake us for Russians, apparently believing any fair-haired person is a Soviet citizen.

While I saw literally hundreds of Russians dressed in civilian clothes wandering about Havana or jammed in the back of trucks rushing out to factories, I saw very few Chinese. The Chinese I did see were by far the most properly dressed of anybody in Cuba, even wearing ties, something the Russians and Cubans generally do not do.

Food is very short in Cuba, although nobody is starving, and it is expensive in restaurants. Elderly chicken and stringy pork are the main dishes, along with rice. Outside Havana, the food is rather less appetizing.

We were in Cuba at the height of the sugar cane cutting season and the government had launched a nationwide campaign for volunteer cutters. The No. 2 man in Cuba, economic czar Ernesto Guevara, spent two weeks cutting cane himself in Camaguey Province.

Twenty-Shot Pistol
It was in the cane fields that I interviewed him. With his black beard, chomping a cigar and packing what he called a "machine-gun" pistol, he gave the interview beside a cane-cutting machine. His pistol, I was told, fires 20 shots and he carries five 20-shot refills. The interview was conducted in a semicircle of his guards, all carrying machine guns, rifles, pistols and machetes.

El Comandante Guevara was only too glad to answer any question and this seemed to be the attitude of the Cuban people themselves wherever we went. Those who support the Castro government are enormously proud of their guns, their communism and the houses and hospitals they have built. Those who oppose Castro are equally anxious to talk, but only when you are out of earshot of any intelligence operatives or microphones.

Rockefeller Raps Kennedy Program For Civil Rights
ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller sailed into President Kennedy's new civil rights program today, claiming that it ignored major campaign promises and came "two years too late."

The Republican governor, an undeclared candidate for next year's Republican presidential nomination, was sharply critical in his first comment on the proposals Kennedy sent to congress last week.

Rockefeller chose as his forum a rally sponsored by the New York State conference of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

In his prepared remarks, he said the Kennedy program was "a step in the right direction" but complained that it covered only five of 28 legislative recommendations of the federal Civil Rights Commission.

Kennedy's major proposals were designed to reinforce the Negro's right to vote and to attend desegregated schools. He also asked for an extension by at least four years of the life of the Civil Rights Commission.

Rockefeller said that, while Kennedy promised during the 1960 campaign to enact the Democratic civil rights platform as a first order of business, his proposals "ignore three of his most important campaign promises, and they are two years too late."

Rockefeller cited Democratic platform promises to set up a fair employment practices commission, to empower the attorney general to file civil injunction suits to prevent discrimination, and to make the Civil Rights Commission a permanent agency.

By contrast, he said, Republicans have introduced legislation in congress to carry out both the Democratic and Republican civil rights platforms.

"Thus it is plain," he said, "that there is constant Republican pressure for action and no dearth of opportunity for the heavy democratic majorities—if the necessary leadership were forthcoming."

Carriers Seek Yearly Saving Of 600 Million
CHICAGO (AP)—Five railroad unions, representing 210,000 on-train employees and seeking to save the possible elimination of 65,000 jobs, will meet with the nation's carriers next week in a climactic session of their long dispute over changes in work rules.

The new bargaining talks were set for March 13 after the U.S. Supreme Court Monday upheld the right of the railroads to make sweeping changes in work rules to eliminate jobs regarded by the carriers as unnecessary. The lines claim what they term antiquated work rules cost them $600 million a year.

A railroad spokesman and chief negotiator said the carriers will "move promptly as possible" to make the work rules changes. He added he was confident there would be no national rail strike.

Firemen First Issue
But spokesmen for two brotherhoods warned of a possible strike if the railroads put the changes into effect before an agreement can be reached.

The new talks in Chicago will deal with the proposed elimination of about 40,000 firemen from diesel locomotives in freight and yard service. The Association of American Railroads said if this issue is settled, other points relating to a drastic revision in pay structure and make-up crews will be discussed.

The five unions—trainmen, firemen, engineers, conductors and switchmen who run trains on 195 railroads—contend the work rules would eliminate some 65,000 workers, including 40,000 firemen. They maintain that the present work rules and the jobs they provide are necessary for safe and efficient operation of trains.

Must Avoid Strike
Chairman Leverett Edwards of the National Mediation Board said that if no agreement is reached at the new bargaining sessions and a strike is called, a new presidential emergency board will be named to study the dispute. That would automatically delay both a strike and the carrying out of the rules changes for at least 60 days.

J. E. Wolfe, chairman of the National Railway Labor Conference and chief negotiator for the carriers, said that "certainly the union leaders know that this country can and will not stand for a nationwide railroad strike."

The Supreme Court's ruling by an 8-0 vote upheld the U.S. District Court and the U.S. Circuit Court in Chicago which ruled last summer that the railroads have a right to overhaul the work rules.

The work rules changes, announced last summer by the railroads, are based on recommendations of a study commission appointed in 1960 by President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Detroit Olympic Bid Gets Boost
LANSING (AP)—The Senate Monday boosted Detroit's bid for the 1968 Summer Olympics by approving two bills aimed at building a $25 million stadium in the Motor City.

The bills—both of which are backed by Gov. George Romney—were passed and sent to the House one week after being introduced.

Sen. Stanley Thayer, R-Ann Arbor, the Senate majority leader, urged passage of the bills "so we can go before the Olympic committee March 18 and say 'Michigan can produce this stadium.'"

Thayer, during a two-hour debate on the measures, said the state's economy would get a "shot in the arm," by winning the 1968 Olympics. He said hosting the Olympics would improve Michigan's image and this could lead to a broadening of the tax base, thus improving the general welfare of the state.

Much of the debate centered on a proposal to create an authority to handle the bonding and construction of the stadium.

Democratic Sen. Basil Brown of Detroit, John Bowman of Roseville and Garland Lane of Flint, plus Republican Sen. Paul Younger of Lansing, raised objections to bonding and leasing details in the bill.

It passed by a 29-0 margin after Thayer and Sen. Haskell Nichols, R-Jackson, defended the legislative controls and what they termed the flexibility of the proposal.

Sharp criticisms of a companion bill increasing both the state's and the track's take from parimutuel betting were voiced by Sens. Philip Rahol, D-Iron Mountain, and Stanley Rozycki, D-Detroit.

Moss Won't Quit Pharmacy Post
LANSING (AP)—An apparent stalemate existed today between Gov. George Romney and David Moss, the Pharmacy Board director whose resignation Romney has demanded.

Backed by the Pharmacy Board and Democratic Party officials, Moss announced Monday he will ignore the demand, and asked Romney, instead, to apologize for "an unwarranted personal and political attack."

The governor replied that Moss and his backers had "falsely assumed" the SuperX licensing case—which touched off the whole controversy—had direct bearing on the issue.

"My concern has been the operation of his office by Mr. Moss," said Romney, adding that he had taken "no personal stand one way or the other" on the SuperX case.

Moss and members of the Pharmacy Board were criticized for their handling of the SuperX case—in which a licensee for the discount drug firm was denied last September by a one-man fact-finding inquiry appointed by the Michigan Supreme Court.

Moss told the governor in a letter the issue of his conduct should be settled in a hearing after formal charges of misfeasance or malfeasance are placed against him.

Bus Plunge Into River Fatal To 7
NEW YORK (AP)—A hospital bus plunged into the East River when its driver was stricken, and seven of the 11 aboard are dead or missing.

"The bus was completely submerged. I can't swim. I knew I was going to die," said one of four survivors of Monday's accident on Welfare Island.

Elizabeth Newton, 41, said she literally hung on to the coatrails of another passenger, Richard Haas, 36, who broke through a door and dragged her up to the surface.

The bus careened off a road on Welfare Island when the driver, John Alberts, 51, apparently suffered a heart attack.

Six persons, including Alberts, are known dead. One woman is missing.

Welfare Island, less than two miles long, is a narrow strip in the East River between Manhattan and Queens. It is occupied by a city hospital complex. All those aboard the bus worked for the city's department of hospitals, which operated the vehicle.

The bus catapulted off a sea wall and came to rest on its side near the shore. Before police could get there, tides swept the vehicle 60 feet out into the river, 20 feet below the surface.

The drama inside the bus was described by Haas, a physiotherapist.

"I saw the driver bend down," he said. "When he didn't get up, I figured he had a heart attack. I jumped up and tried to grab the wheel but the bus skidded and I was thrown off my feet."

Bystander, Gloria Fulwider, a medical records librarian, said, "It is the grace of God that I'm not in there. I usually take that bus at lunchtime, but today I was too busy."

Dead, besides driver Alberts, are Catherine Quinn, 57, and Rosie Taft, 48, both ward clerks; Alexander E. Reichelt, 56, an occupational therapist; Robert Perez, 45, a physiotherapist, and Gertrude Porter, about 70, a Red Cross volunteer worker. All are from New York City except Reichelt, of Metuchen, N.J.

Missing is Beatrice Sturdevant, 34, a typist, also of New York.

French Miners Continue Strike
PARIS (AP)—The coal of France's 200,000 coal miners flouted President Charles de Gaulle's orders to return to work today and continued their strike for higher wages.

Reports from the government-owned mines and union officials said that between 90 and 95 per cent of the miners in the vast northern France fields and in the Lorraine district of eastern France still refused to work.

The miners have been on strike since Friday. De Gaulle issued a decree over the weekend drafting them into government service and threatening them with fines or prison terms if they did not go back to the pits.

Monday 31,000 miners in Lorraine and others in southern mines rejected the back-to-work order and stayed out. Miners in the bigger northern fields, who have Mondays off, joined in the defiance today.

Charging that the draft order abridged the right to strike, many other unions scheduled sympathy strikes of 15 minutes or longer.

Electric power was cut off in a large part of downtown Paris in midmorning. It was expected to be out about an hour.

UPCAP To Meet At Iron River On Year's Plans

Executive officers of the Upper Peninsula Committee on Area Problems in a telephone conference Monday planned a March 30 meeting of UPCAP's 14 county delegation and 60 technical committee members at Iron River.

Lynn Sandberg of L'Anse, UPCAP chairman, said the meeting will review the organization's progress since organization over a year ago and set goals for the year.

Sandberg listed goals to be considered as follows:

1. Develop and activate more specific research projects.
2. Prepare a regional plan.
3. Prepare a structure for implementing that plan.
4. Support and coordinate county planning organizations.
5. Provide continuing technical assistance to the counties.

The goals were suggested by Robert Nathan, president of Washington, D. C., at a January meeting in Marquette. The Nathan firm serves as economic consultant to UPCAP and the region.

At yesterday's conference, Sandberg and other board members, Harold Dettmann of St. Ignace, Donald Munro of Ontonagon, reviewed progress of UPCAP the first regionwide locally sponsored organization for study, planning and development in the Upper Peninsula.

"In slightly more than a year," Sandberg said "UPCAP has created an area development library, secured the services of two full-time economic consultants, prepared and activated a commercial fisheries development project, coordinated training classes for tourist industry employees and prepared a program for further development of the tourist industry.

"It has set in motion a forest resource inventory, established 11 regionwide working committees to utilize industrial and educational resources, and has secured a means to inventory manpower and human resources of the region."

Sandberg, speaking for the executive committee, expressed appreciation to the county governments and other organizations which have responded to the concept of regional study, planning and development in the past year.

In addition to UPCAP's 5 point goal statement, the March 30 meeting of delegates will hear about other state and midwestern planning programs.

Reds Kill Men As Wives Watch

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — "It took about 15 minutes and then it was all over," Paie, but dry eyed, Vurnell Jacobsen told of watching Communist guerrillas shoot her husband, another missionary and his 4-month-old baby girl at a roadblock Monday.

"They stopped our land rover about 66 miles northeast of Saigon, she related.

"They looked like any other peasants along the road in black trousers, you know, like they all wear. But of course, we knew they were Communists.

"There are always roadblocks by the Viet Cong. But they just asked for our identity papers.

"We didn't think they were going to harm us.

"We all got out of the land rover. Then my husband and I started to walk back to it when the Viet Cong began to look it over. Suddenly they fired. There was no reason. They killed a Vietnamese, too.

"Then they slipped back into the jungle."

Mrs. Jacobsen's husband, Elwood, 35, of Foreston, Minn., was killed. Bullets also ripped through Filipino missionary Gaspar Alfonso Makil, 35, and his twin daughter Janie, 4 months old, clasped in his arms. Makil died on the spot, the baby died in a Saigon hospital.

Makil's wife, Josephine, 30, holding the other twin, Jessie, saw her husband die. She and the child were not hurt, but a bullet shattered the leg of their 3-year-old son, Thomas. Also unhurt were the Makils' older daughter, Carol, 2, and the Jacobsens' 7-month-old daughter, Kari, born a month before their arrival in Viet Nam.

Mrs. Makil, the former Josephine Johnson of La Junta, Colo., is an American citizen. So are her children.

"It was all over so quickly," said Mrs. Jacobsen. "I don't know why they fired."

The missionary families were traveling in a 30-car convoy to the Makils' home near Dalat, in the highlands northeast of Saigon.

Mrs. Makil and her husband had been here a year.

The Jacobsens were on their first overseas tour.

Both missionaries were attached to the Summer Institute of Linguistics of Santa Ana, Calif., which maintains a mission in South Viet Nam to transcribe the primitive dialects of the mountain people into written languages.

FALSE TEETH BY THE HERD
DOUGLAS, Ariz. (AP) — Dr. Charles Behney, a veterinarian, may soon branch out into dentistry.

He is conducting a survey to determine if ranchers favor false teeth for cattle. Already, he has one customer and a herd of patients.

Carney Girl Is Nutrinaut

Miss Maxine Berger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Berger of Carney, has recently been selected to participate in a nutritional experiment sponsored by the U. S. Government. This highly exacting study in human metabolism is being conducted by the home economics and chemistry departments of Andrews University, Berrien Springs, Mich.

Miss Berger is a home economics student in the freshman class and was selected on the basis of physical fitness, scholastic ability, and emotional stability. She is one of seven teen-age freshmen girls engaged in the study.

Andrews University has named them the "Seven Nutrinauts" because they are studying the unknown in nutrition.

"Nutrition of the late-teen-age girl has not been studied to the extent and with the care and preciseness of the one now in progress," said Mrs. Alice Marsh, director of the program and chairman of the Home Economics Department.

The experiment is designed to test National Research Council standards for the minimum vitamin and mineral requirements of late-teen-age girls. Similar studies have been made with other age groups but with the study hinging on the self-discipline of the subjects, the late-teens have been hard to test. The subject must discipline himself to eat and drink only measured solids and liquids while following his otherwise normal routine. Even regular drinking water is out.

It was not easy to qualify as a Nutrinaut. Each subject had to withstand the rigors of numerous physical and psychological examinations. Because of the exactness of the program, only emotionally stable girls were selected. Basically, they had to be well-adjusted, happy girls with a positive outlook on life. They could have no allergies or violent likes and dislikes as far as food is concerned.

The Nutrinauts, coming from five states and pursuing three majors are: Ruth Ann Barron, Maryland; Maxine Berger, Michigan; and Janet Wonderly, California, home economics majors; Suzanne Carle, Michigan, Diane Robinson, Illinois, pre-nursing students; and Sherry-Lee Olson, Wisconsin, a zoology major.

Ohio reported the state's worst flood conditions in four years. Hundreds of persons were evacuated from their homes, and scores of families were marooned. With more rain predicted, the Weather Bureau in Cincinnati said the Ohio River appeared likely to be bank-full along its 981-mile route.

More than 100 families in residential sections of Wheeling, W. Va., a city of about 57,000, were evacuated and 500 persons were reported forced to leave their homes from Vienna, south of Wheeling. Flooding also was reported in Wellsburg, McKinleyville and Moundsville while the small town of Louise was reported isolated by the floodwaters.

High water forced the closing of a Wheeling machine products plant employing about 600 men. Streams in many other areas in West Virginia were overflowing.

An emergency was declared in Newark, a central Ohio town of 39,000, as the Licking River and tributaries neared flood stage. Fifty families were marooned in Newtown near Steubenville and boats were sent to the town by special train.

Kansas entered the Union in 1861, first year of the Civil War.

Bidault Predicts Fall Of DeGaulle

LONDON (AP) — A cloak-and-dagger television appearance here by hunted French underground chief Georges Bidault threatened today to open a new rift in the uneasy relations between Britain and France.

French officials expressed hurt surprise that the government-financed British Broadcasting Corp. gave a public forum to a man whose only purpose, they said, is the assassination of President Charles de Gaulle.

Opposition leaders in Parliament demanded a government explanation of how Bidault slipped into Britain through the security net.

Bidault, a former French premier who heads the outlawed National Council of the resistance (CNR), said in a taped television interview broadcast Monday night that his organization will topple De Gaulle from power.

"I think our chance is better than Churchill's (against the Nazis), in 1940," he declared.

The CNR is the political arm of the terrorist Secret Army Organization, but Bidault ducked when asked if he endorsed terrorist methods.

Bidault, 62, was a wartime leader of the anti-Nazi underground in France and was one of De

Children Aided By Kindergarten

The average five-year-old may not yet have the coordination of eyes and hands to enable him to read and write, he may not yet be able to work in abstract symbols like numbers or letters, but he can still learn all sorts of things.

He can learn to work and play in small groups, he can start learning to think, he can learn to listen to directions. And these things can help him in later school work.

"Kindergarten helps the child move with ease from home to home-and-school environment. It offers him experience in living, working, and playing with other five-year-olds, and with adults outside the home. Kindergarten provides opportunities to do, to explore, to discover, and to create. Thus the child learns."

That's the theme of a new booklet, Kindergarten Today, published this month by the Department of Elementary-Kindergarten-Nursery Education, a unit of the National Education Association.

"Kindergarten extends present interests and arouses new ones, discovers abilities, and detects and remedies problems. It fosters intellectual curiosity and cultivates learning. It holds sound mental and physical health. The child acquires thinking and problem-solving skills. The foundation for his later school success is established," says the booklet.

But while "young children need opportunities for learning and guided development before they are ready to begin formal learning," the learning in kindergarten comes mostly from play, "the child's natural way of learning." And for play, the good kindergarten needs adequate space and equipment.

But the main thing it needs is a good teacher, one who can guide the children in their new environment. "The teacher's main task is to arrange learning situations in which each child experiences the satisfaction of working in friendly cooperation with others to achieve worthy group purposes. Rules are necessary and limits must be set, but within these limitations the child is free and self-directing."

The booklet also contains suggested items of equipment for the kindergarten, describes what a kindergarten program might include, and lists books for further reading by parents interested in kindergarten programs.

Screen Producers Award Presented To Irving Berlin

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The Screen Producers Guild on Sunday night gave its Milestone Award to Irving Berlin—the first time the famed composer has been so honored since 1913.

"The Friars gave me a dinner then for 'Alexander's Ragtime Band,'" Berlin explained.

"What can anyone say after a night like this?" he asked. So he then sang a chorus of one of his most famous hits—"God Bless America."

The 75-year-old songwriter was the recipient of good wishes from three presidents, John F. Kennedy, Harry S. Truman and Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Parents Stiffen Child Discipline

The nation's children will face a general stiffening of home discipline in the years directly ahead, a University of Michigan psychiatrist predicts.

"Today we are at one extreme of the disciplinary pendulum," says Dr. Jack C. Westman. "It's a common atmosphere of permissiveness in which children too often run the home. The pendulum is set to swing back, and if it settles in some middle position it will mark a change for the better."

Addressing 65 State Troopers who are attending a one-week institute on social and psychiatric problems, Dr. Westman said the present lack of discipline in some homes "forces police agencies across the nation to assume the job parents should be doing in giving direction and guidance to children."

While children need freedom to express themselves, said the U-M specialist, they also need fair and authoritative guides for conduct.

If the home does not provide "reasonable controls," the child will seek them elsewhere. Too often he commits delinquent acts simply to make the community enforce its standards or conduct.

In explaining the psychiatric view of child behavior, Dr. Westman cautioned the troopers against accepting a child's actions at face value.

"Children naturally strive to bend the regulations laid down for them. This is simply the child's method of testing the meaning and sincerity of those regulations. He needs to know that the rules are sturdy and wise and dependable. For this is the bedrock upon which he must build his own character."

Dr. Westman was one of the five major speakers at the week-long institute designed to up-date Michigan State Troopers on modern concepts of mental health.

Warbler Lures Bird Watchers

By BOB VOGES
Associated Press Outdoor Writer
MIO (AP) — A tiny bird weighing about half an ounce—one of Michigan's lesser known rarities—will lure bird watchers and Audubon Society members to the northern Lower Peninsula Jack Pine country again this spring.

The bird is the Kirtland's Warbler, sometimes known as the Jack Pine Warbler.

There are believed to be only about 1,000 or less of this particular species left in the world.

The bird also is unique in that it is the only one known to confine its breeding range entirely to Michigan.

There have been suggestions the warbler be proclaimed the state bird, instead of the more common robin.

The birds winter in the Bahamas and fly north to nest in Michigan, arriving in mid-May. The Warblers are among the fussiest home-makers in the bird world.

They will nest only in the Jack Pines of the north central portion of the Lower Peninsula, Ogemaw, Oscoda, Crawford and Kalkaska counties and the Au Sable River Valley area are favorite nesting regions.

Just any pine won't do. The pine selected must be between 10 and 15 years old and must have low-growing, live branches.

The birds have a distinctive, very loud and clear song. G. A. Ammann, bird expert with the Conservation Department, reports visitors from many other states and even foreign countries come to Michigan to spot them.

"As is the case with every species facing possible extinction, their preservation depends on saving the habitat," he said.

With the number of widows in the United States growing by 100,000 a year—because of longer female life spans—widows now outnumber widowers by 4 to 1. Chart above, based on statistics from Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., shows how long wives may expect to survive their husbands. For instance, of those widowed at age 45, three-fourths can expect to live another 25 years. Of those widowed at 65, more than half can expect to live 15 years longer; a third will live for 20 years.

Democrats Plan Public Sessions

Michigan Democrats have scheduled two regional conferences on the proposed Constitution in the Upper Peninsula, to be held Saturday, March 9 in Escanaba and Sunday, March 10 in Baraga. It is announced by Miss Adelaide Hart, vice chairman of the State Democratic Party.

The Escanaba conference will be held in the Sherman Hotel and will draw delegates from Schoolcraft, Alger, Delta, Luce, Mackinac and Chippewa counties. It will open at 9:30 a. m. and conclude at 3:30 p. m.

The lineup of speakers and discussion leaders is the same at both conferences. Menominee Prosecuting Attorney Russell

Panel leaders include Carmine Della Quadre, professor of economics at Michigan Tech; Andrew Wisti, Houghton County Democratic chairman; F. Hubert Mather, Baraga County prosecuting attorney, and Bradley.

Topics to be covered in the workshops include Judiciary, Legislative Organization, Organization of State Government, and Finance-Taxation and Education. Miss Hart said the conferences are open to all interested persons.

The Russians, gifted talkers though they may be, can't do much of it on the telephone. They have only 2.3 phones per 100 people.

Telling The Boss

Judd Arnett, writing in the Detroit Free Press about "the new tiger of the Democratic Party in Michigan, the Gregarious Hungarian, Zoltan Ferency," says that Ferency "gives at least tacit agreement to the suggestion that the Democratic Party is in an awkward position in fighting the new constitution."

This is increasingly obvious and must be resented by many Democrats who disagree with their party's official stand in opposition to approval of the new state constitution in the election April 1. Democrats approved the articles in the new document written in the Constitutional Convention last year and now the party repudiates them. The party managers want to keep Democrat John Mackie in the highway commissioner's office so the Highway Department is conducting a scare campaign that the highways will deteriorate if the new constitution is adopted.

Democrats who opposed the calling of a Constitutional Convention because they said it would be better to amend the old one to obtain the desired reforms, now complain that apportionment of the Legislature under the new document isn't acceptable, although it is much better than the present one and subject to amendment, like the present one.

And state employees are conducting a scare campaign against the constitution, saying it will knock civil service. Respected Dorothy Judd, one of the acknowledged protectors of civil service in Michigan as a member of the Civil Service Commission, says of this:

"Criticism of the new provision relative to the abolition of positions have been couched in extreme language calculated to strike terror into the heart of the civil servant and thus to freeze his power to think for himself. 'Return to the spoils system' and 'wholesale political hiring and firing' are typical phrases.

"The attacks on this provision by the opponents of the constitution are so sweeping and so completely undocumented as to justify suspicion as to the motive behind them. How genuine can be the concern of the critic for the welfare of the state employee when his criticism relies on fear alone to establish its validity?

"The facts are that nothing in the new provision would nullify present civil service rules which recognize the possibility of layoffs due to the abolition of positions 'when employment in such positions is no longer needed,' and which provide for the placement of the names of employees affected on layoff lists for re-employment. Rule 40 regarding appeals would still stand.

"Contrary to the dire predictions of opponents of the constitution, the provision in fact offers the employee greater protection than does the present constitution. For the first time it prohibits the abolition of a position for any reason except 'administrative efficiency.' And for the first time it guarantees to the displaced employee the right of appeal to the Civil Service Commission. It not only continues the prohibition against religious, racial or partisan discrimination in demotion and removals, but it applies this prohibition also to appointments and promotions.

"The present power of the Civil Service Commission over the abolition of positions by appointing authorities—the effect of the 1950 court decision—is an extraordinary power for a personnel agency to possess, seldom found among other civil service agencies in the country.

"The theory that the Civil Service Commission—itsself a most completely independent of the executive branch of government—should have the final say on how many positions should exist in the state service, runs counter to one of the chief objectives of the Constitutional Convention; that is, to give the governor authority to govern, so that the voters might in fact hold him responsible for the government of the state.

"If the Civil Service Commission alone can determine how many state employees the taxpayer must support, the governor cannot be held responsible for the cost or quality of state services. Such voter control is basic to democracy."

If the voters of Michigan understand this they will reject the position of the Michigan State Employees Association in opposition to the new constitution as putting the rights of the workers above those of the public which hires them.

The Doctor Says:

Cirrhosis Undermines Liver

By Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.

Q — In your piece about cirrhosis of the liver you said scar tissue replaced the liver cells and made the liver shrink. But my encyclopedia says cirrhosis is enlargement of the liver. Please explain.

A — What I said about cirrhosis is true although I may have oversimplified my answer. In the early stages of cirrhosis the liver is stimulated by the underlying disease to exercise its tremendous regenerative power so that even whole the damaged cells are being replaced by scar tissue the liver itself becomes enlarged. After many years the liver's power to repair damage becomes worn out. Then the liver shrinks and the victim is left with a hopeless condition.

Q — I am a married woman. On my scalp I get large painful pimples. When they clear up new ones appear. How can I get rid of them?

A — The most likely cause of your trouble is acne necrotica. This is not related to the ordinary acne of teenagers. It is hard to control but the following measures should be helpful. Apply white ammoniated mercury ointment (10 percent) at night two or three times a week and shampoo thoroughly the next morning.

Q — What would cause excess saliva? It is very annoying to keep swallowing all the time. Is there any way to overcome it? I am very nervous. Could that have anything to do with it?

A — A long list of drugs including mercury (calomel), iodides, bromides (often prescribed for nervousness), arsenic, and potassium chlorate will cause sialivation. Excessive smoking, diseases of the mouth and gums, indigestion, and anemia are other causes.

Peanut-bums had a brief vogue at Yale in the 1870s. In this quaint game, a bushel or so of peanuts was emptied on the floor and the students scrambled to get as many nuts as possible.

"Wouldn't It Be Funny If They Both Disarmed?"

Washington Comment Memory Lane

WASHINGTON — (N E A) — Every year for the past nine years there has been an anniversary meeting of the congressmen who were hit by stray shots Puerto Rican fanatics fired wildly from the visitors' gallery while the House of Representatives was in session March 1, 1954.

Convening for the usual special luncheon in the House dining room this year are the four men who are still members: Representatives Clifford Davis, Tenn., Kenneth Roberts, Ala., George Fallon, Md., and Ben Jensen, Iowa.

Most of the victims sustained wounds that were moderate to serious. The most seriously wounded, Alvin Bentley, of Michigan, is no longer in the House, though he tried for reelection last fall.

Originally the group styled themselves "The Five Club." Since Bentley's departure they haven't bothered to take a new name.

They think of the group as properly exclusive — the only House members in history who were ever shot at while performing their duties on the floor. Says one:

"We hope no one else will ever be eligible for membership."

Defense Dept. analysts are puzzling over the Defense Supply Agency's order for 377,652 pair of men's shoes, placed shortly after the long-hike craze began. Says one Defense Department wag:

"Shows what the 50-mile hike will do."

Sen. Norris Cotton, R-N. H., says that those who rest their hopes on the panaceas of politicians could profit from this thank-you letter for a package sent to a European family.

"Please send more of those pills. We didn't know what they were until cousin Lempi, who studied English, read the name for us. Then we gave them all to uncle Paul, who suffers from rheumatism. He feels better now, and says it's the best medicine he ever took. If you don't remember the name of the pills, they're called Life Savers."

A grammatical flub by Rep. William B. Widnall, R-N. J., in one of his recent newsletters, using the word "clumb" where it should have been "climbed," inspired a Ridgewood, N. J., constituent, Frank M. Ballou, to these epic lines:

"Observing how our debt has clumb
The taxpayer now is near-ly numb.
But still the planners plan support
For Tito, Nehru, Betancourt,
It seems our strategy, in whole,
Is aimed to frustrate Khrushchev's goal.
Continuing on our way so merry
There'll be nothing left for him to bury."

Controversial nuclear submarine boss Vice Adm. Hyman G. Rickover is the subject of many back room Navy discussions, pro and con.

One wall of one office in the Pentagon, a newspaper headline reading "Navy Wants Rickover to Stay" has been altered to read, "Navy Wants Rickover to Stay on the Moon."

Highlight of Venezuelan President Romulo Betancourt's visit to Washington was the presentation to him of a fox terrier puppy which was promptly named "Little Guy Two." Behind this unofficial unsolicited gift by an Elliott City, Md., dog lover is a real tear-jerker story.

When Betancourt was a political refugee, living in Washington from January 1949 to June 1950, he got a fox terrier for his young daughter Virginia, who promptly named the puppy "Little Guy." He was the Betancourt family's best friend and companion throughout their exile, and accompanied them on their return to Venezuela.

Little Guy lived to the ripe old age of 14. His recent death was a severe blow to the Betancourt family. The Betancourt's daughter, now Senora Jose Lorenzo Perez, has children of her own. So when Little Guy Two was presented to the president and Senora Betancourt, it was an emotional moment. The dog reminded them too much of the original Little Guy.

"We will give Little Guy Two to our grandchildren," said Betancourt.

When Sen. Thurston B. Morton, R-Ky., spoke before the Georgia Press Institute he told the editors that "Your profession and mine have a lot in common. News and legislation are being fully automated. There is a giant machine that grinds out both commodities, serves them up, ties a bib around your neck, spoon feeds you, and even sends a doctor around to examine you if the diet happens to disagree with you."

"The newspaperman is expected to pass the package along to his readers. The legislator is expected to pass the package along to his constituents. The inotype machine and the legislative machine, in this grand design, can both be replaced by rubber stamps. They are kept in the executive branch of government. And your old friend Arthur Sylvester (Assistant Secretary of Defense for Public Affairs), who used to be a newspaperman himself, is one of their chief operators."

Sen. Eugene McCarthy, D-Minn., labels New York Sen. Kenneth Keating's criticism of the Kennedy administration's Cuban policy "Republican roulette."

It was with nostalgic delight that I read L.C.'s letter in Friday's Press. It has been more than 50 years since I last sang it and I had forgotten many of the words but the melody lingered and I sang it through for my husband. His comment? "Your voice is on the squeaky side."

We were six grades in one room of a two room school and every morning we sang this song. There were many religions represented as grades but we never heard any objections to the song. God was in our hearts, homes, schools, country and there were peaceful times. Now God is being banished from everywhere and the world is a nuclear mess. (Name withheld).

Silk and nylon stockings that have developed runs are contributing to the Manistique war effort. These stockings are being collected to provide material for making parachutes. Manistique's effort in the past few weeks has been rewarded with enough silk and nylon to make 18 parachutes.

Mrs. Mary Dupont of 1010 3rd St. S. was seriously injured by a passing car while she was crossing the intersection of Second Ave. S. and 14th St. The motorist who stopped to render assistance, said he was blinded by lights of an oncoming car.

The home of Mrs. Joseph Beau of Manistique was badly damaged by fire last night. Fire in a defective chimney is blamed.

President Roosevelt has declared a bank moratorium. Although all banks will not be open for business, merchants will be afforded an opportunity to make and receive change at the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce office until further notice.

The Daily Press printed a weekend extra, announcing the bank moratorium and the death of Mayor Anton Cermak, of Chicago, who died from an assassin's bullet that had been meant for President Roosevelt.

Letters To The Press

PEACEFUL TIMES

It was with nostalgic delight that I read L.C.'s letter in Friday's Press. It has been more than 50 years since I last sang it and I had forgotten many of the words but the melody lingered and I sang it through for my husband. His comment? "Your voice is on the squeaky side."

We were six grades in one room of a two room school and every morning we sang this song. There were many religions represented as grades but we never heard any objections to the song. God was in our hearts, homes, schools, country and there were peaceful times. Now God is being banished from everywhere and the world is a nuclear mess. (Name withheld).

NEEDS OF THE SCHOOLS

Dear Fire Hazard:
So you can satisfy your own mind, I strongly recommend that you visit the Franklin School.

It is obvious that the other needs of the Public Schools of the Escanaba Area have been neatly dismissed by referring to them as "every other conceivable need of the Area."

Do yourself a favor and familiarize yourself with the immediate needs of all parts of the district and ask yourself: How long would you put off meeting those needs?

A two-story fire-proof school building would not be less expensive to build and maintain. Let me point out to you that in the

DOG WAS LICENSED

Thank you for printing my letter regarding our beagle that was executed by the dog warden. It so happens that our dog did have a license, but it was on a leather collar that had become worn. We had temporarily put on a chain type collar. Admittedly, we were at fault in not transferring the license to the new collar.

However, the city dog law provides that an unlicensed dog will be held for three days before being destroyed. Our dog was picked up by an Escanaba police officer, and certainly the city law would have applied in his case. We were told by the Escanaba police that the dog would be held for three days.

We called the dog warden repeatedly, but by the time we reached him, the dog had been destroyed. Our complaint is the undue haste and complete lack of discretion shown by this official. There is a law to protect animals since they are helpless. In this case, the law was violated, and a licensed dog, that incidentally was a much loved pet, was destroyed. We hope that we can prevent this from happening to other people's dogs.

Sincerely,
Edward C. Fordney

Easter Seal Chairmen Named

Jimmie DuBois, president of the Schoolcraft County chapter for Crippled Children and adults, has announced appointment of Mrs. Carl Olson, 365 Lake St., and Mrs. Edward Jorgenson, 650 Arbutus Ave., to conduct the annual Easter Seal Campaign which opens March 7 and concludes Easter Sunday.

Proceeds from the Easter Seals, which county residents will receive in the mail, will be used to aid crippled children and adults whom agencies, state or private sources do not serve.

In 1962 Schoolcraft County rated 16th among counties of the state on a per capita basis in giving to the Easter Seal drive. The chairman hopes every resident will back the campaign so last year's record can be exceeded in the current drive.

science, mechanics and design.

Eight or nine instructors will be employed for the opening of the college, with eight of them employed fulltime and perhaps one or more instructors obtained locally from persons qualified as instructors in the technical fields, said J. L. Heirman, president of the Bay de Noc College Board.

The College catalog covering the subjects and the courses to be offered will be out about April 15. Recognizing the importance of a good college library, the board agreed that one of the best the college can afford will be established in connection with a study center for students.

Begin Hiring Soon

Refurnishing of the rooms to be occupied by the college and the purchase of good equipment are objectives of the college board in advance of the opening of the school next fall. The former Senior High will not be a permanent home for the college. "Five years from now we will better know where we stand on facilities," said Heirman.

Rinehart reported to the board on various applicants for positions with the college, from teaching staff to janitor and other jobs. Hiring by Rinehart to fill the positions will begin about April 1. A survey among seniors in high schools of the area indicates that the anticipated enrollment of about 200 shown by the earlier study will be approximated, Rinehart said. The college facilities will be ample to accommodate more than this number and no student will be turned away, it was emphasized.

Senators Warned Not To Expect Easter Vacation

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate has passed its first bills of the 1963 session which began Jan. 9—but a long haul seems to be ahead.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana told his fellow senators not to expect an Easter vacation or final adjournment before October or November.

The Senate, tied in knots for weeks by wrangles over rules and organization procedures, ground out its initial bills, both by voice votes, Monday.

They were: A measure to authorize a $24.167 payment to the city and county of Honolulu from the Hawaiian Housing Commission.

A measure making a supplemental $508,172,000 appropriation to reimburse the Commodity Credit Corp. for the sale, in foreign currencies, of surplus agriculture commodities abroad. This measure, a hangover from 1962, now goes to the White House.

Upper Peninsula Last Market For Cheap Woodlands

By JEAN WORTH

CARNEY—Eugene Peterson of Peterson Brothers of this community thinks that the Upper Peninsula is the only place in America still offering cheap land.

His belief, often expressed, has not been changed after a continuing study of U. P. land values. On a recent woodland tour in this area Peterson told the tourists that cutover ponderosa pine lands in the Flagstaff area of Arizona is selling for $200 an acre. In the Reno, Nev., area sagebrush rangeland is selling for $50 an acre. In the Upper Peninsula, said Peterson, cutover timberlands can still be bought for $15 an acre.

In Alabama he found bare field land, some of it badly eroded, selling for $35 an acre, and with not much available because of the forest land boom there, which has boosted the price of land planted to pine seedlings to $150 and $200 an acre. The land planted is poor because anything fertile came in to timber naturally.

G. Harold Earle, owner of the Wisconsin Land & Timber Co. of Hermansville, said that this firm once owned about 150,000 acres of Upper Peninsula forest lands and let a big acreage go as profits.

When the Northwestern Cooperage Co. of Gladstone cut over its lands near Treeny it sold them for $2-$5 an acre. Wisconsin Land & Timber Co., sold its cutover land for from $5 to $15 an acre but in the 1930s it let 20,000 acres go for taxes, gave quit claim deeds for $10 to persons for as much as they wanted.

The company, said Earle, could see only a loss on its land investment if it retained its lands with the tax burden upon them. Even looking backward, he said, it would not have been profitable to keep them, although forest lands have appreciated in value since then.

Bruce Buell of Chassell, recently retired chief forester of Marathon Division of American Can Co., which manages 130,000 acres of U. P. and northeastern Wisconsin forest lands, said that the dark cloud over the Upper Peninsula's forest industry future is the uncertainty about taxes.

There should be an income of $1 an acre from forest lands, Buell said. Marathon managed 120,000 acres near Amasa for 30 years and income in 1962 averaged 78 cents an acre. "Where is the incentive to hold and manage forest lands?" asked Buell. Investment in other ventures pays better, he said.

In the Richmond, Va., area forest land is bought for $75 to $100 an acre and expensively prepared and planted to trees said Gene Peterson. In 12 to 15 years it provides timber from a thinning cut. In the U. P. a tree or two in a stand may attain commercial size in such short time, but not the stand; it takes three years here to duplicate the growth there, with three 18 inch "leaders" added to a tree each year. The U. P. growth is one leader a year.

Virginians cannot afford to grow pulp with such costs and use only their thinning for pulping, grow the stand for saw logs, piles and piling. There a 22 inch diameter for a sawlog is regarded as a big log. Virginia is less than 5 per cent state-owned, the U. P. is 40 per cent government owned, and Arizona is 85 per cent government owned.

Wood grows faster in the South, said Buell "but when we get our U. P. lands covered with good hardwoods we'll crowd them hard on growth and on value we'll beat them all hollow."

The economic problems of U. P. forestry include some oddities. It takes 50 years to grow a cord of pulpwood that sells for $3 a cord stumpage. The liability insurance for cutting that cord of wood cost half the $3 for coverage of two hours of logging risk.

Cavanagh Baited GOP Convention

WASHINGTON (AP)—Backing Detroit's bid for the GOP national convention in 1964, Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh, a Democrat, dangled a bit of political bait before the Republican Site Committee Monday.

Cavanagh presented the committee a brochure which had a political key to Michigan. "It went on to note that 'many Republicans say the 1960 election was lost in the big cities.'"

"Detroit, symbol of industrial America, gave the GOP only 29 per cent of the vote and the key swing state of Michigan was lost to the party," it added.

"But in 1962 the Republicans cut into the Detroit and Wayne County vote and won the governorship. Detroit is a Republican challenge in 1964."

Philadelphia, Dallas and Chicago also put in their bids Monday.

The Detroit and Philadelphia delegations were led by new Republican Govs. George Romney and William Scranton, both touted as possible dark horse candidates for the presidential nomination after they captured last fall state offices formerly held by Democrats.

Both men denied they had their eyes on the presidential nomination.

Common Market President Praises U. S. Trade Policy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Walter Hallstein, president of the European Common Market, has applauded American plans to continue negotiations with the six-nation trade group even though Great Britain was not allowed to join.

"We should go ahead with the concept of trade partnership. The non-admission (of Britain) made no change in the U. S. trade policy," Hallstein told a news conference Monday.

Rules Tightened For Coffee Break By Civil Service

LANSING (AP)—The Civil Service Commission has ordered state agencies to tighten up on the use of coffee breaks by employees and to take disciplinary action against violators.

The directive was issued after a survey of the Cass and Mason state office buildings in Lansing showed about five per cent of the workers there were "abusing" coffee breaks.

Franklin DeWald, civil service director, said the survey did not find any widespread abuse but did uncover some chronic offenders.

Steve Took Sick; That's Too Baa-ad

Six days a week for the past six weeks the cast for the Escanaba High School senior class play "The White Sheep in the Family" has been rehearsing. Director Robert Vadnais announced Sunday, the day before opening performance, that the cast would stay and practice until every "bug" was out of it. At 11 p. m. the "bugs" were exterminated.

Steve Brown son of Rev. and Mrs. J. Bruce Brown, who plays the all important part of the father, had returned late Saturday night from East Lansing where he competed in the Distinguished Alumni Scholarship test. (The test was invitational and Steve finished in the upper four per cent of the 1,800 competing.) The exam itself demanded rigorous mental work and the hours of traveling was another endurance test.

Long Wait
The week's strain finally took its toll Monday. Steve held out until around mid-morning and then could no longer battle the flu bug. He was excused from his classes and sent home to rest.

"The worst part about the whole affair was the waiting," said Bob Vadnais. "All day long I received notes reporting Steve's condition and we all sat on pins and needles until 3 when Rev. Brown called to say Steve just couldn't make it."

As the father in the play the part demands that Steve be on stage during the entire performance except for a total of about ten minutes. It is the sort of part that even a professional would have trouble jumping into with only four hours advance notice. There just wasn't anyone who could have handled the role.

Anticipating that Steve would feel better today (and he does!) the play was rescheduled for tonight and Thursday with the curtain rising at 8 p. m.

Being a member of the cast in any play requires a certain amount of anxiety and nervousness before the show. Being tense and nervous helps to keep a person more alert. If you are too satisfied or calm chances are your portrayal would be less vibrant and too relaxed.

On Monday morning the eight members of the cast (excluding Steve, who was too ill to be nervous) were keyed up, steamed up and biting their finger nails. . . things were running smoothly. Steve's sudden illness sort of shook the edge they had been building up and so today they're (after a very peppy pep talk from Vadnais) in the process of getting nervous all over again.

Curtain Time

The play "The White Sheep in the Family" will be presented tonight and Thursday beginning at 8 p. m. at the William Oliver Memorial Auditorium. It is under the direction of Robert Vadnais and it is his first three act high school production. Tickets will be available at the door.

Steve's sudden illness sort of shook the edge they had been building up and so today they're (after a very peppy pep talk from Vadnais) in the process of getting nervous all over again.

White Or Black?
There have been other dilemmas that had to be met with this play (makes you think the "white sheep" turned black!) but none so serious they couldn't be overcome. First three members of the original cast had to be replaced because they couldn't make it to rehearsals. Then the stage at the Junior High School, which is used jointly with Senior High, is used for music classes and the play's set interfered with band practice and part of the set will have to be taken down after each performance and then set up again before curtain time on the second night.

A few props were hard to come by, but somehow all the wrinkles got ironed out and tonight at 8 the curtain will rise to reveal a troupe of very hard-working seniors . . . as they say "The show must go on!"

Ann Landers
Forget The Past

Dear Ann: I came from a family of nine children. My father was a drunk and Mom had a terrible time feeding us kids. When I was 15 I quit high school and left home.

I met lots of older men, and not of the highest type. I'm sorry to say I did some things I'm very much ashamed of. When I was working as a waitress I fell for a trucker who was separated from his wife. I lived with him for two years.

Then I met Dave. He was the first decent man I ever went with. Dave asked me to marry him even though he knew all about my rotten past. We've been married 12 years, have four children and I'm the happiest and most grateful woman alive. I came within an inch of being a rum-bucket and a tramp.

Last night Dave brought an out-of-town customer home to dinner. I almost died when I saw the guest. He's the man I lived with. I know he recognized me at once but he gave no hint.

Shall I tell Dave, or should I contact my old flame and beg him to keep his mouth shut?—LUCKY LEE

Dear Lucky: Keep your mouth shut. Unless the man is a miserable heel he'll do the same.

***

Dear Ann: I'd like to answer "Daddykins"—the father who wanted to know what to do about a teenage daughter who wore his sweaters, jackets, shirts, socks—everything she could get her hands on.

You told him he wasn't doomed for life—just until his daughter got married. Well, I can tell him that marriage may end the problem for HIM, but it's just the beginning for his son-in-law.

My impeccably dressed son-mar-

The hostess noticed the expression of astonishment on my face and told me in no uncertain terms that a dog's mouth is cleaner than a human's. She further stated that hot water and soap kill every kind of germ and that after the dish comes out of the dish washer it is safe for even a tiny baby.

On the way home my husband said he didn't think he would care to eat there again. I feel the same way. What is your opinion?—YONKERS

Dear Yonkers: Strictly from an esthetic point of view it would be better to keep the dog's dishes separate. Your friend's statements however were correct. So she'd be doing the dog a favor by not subjecting him to human germs.

Champion Is Second In Final Cage Poll

By The Associated Press

A single vote decided this year's champions in two classes in The Associated Press' final high school basketball poll. In one instance, a lone vote upset a season-long leader.

The AP's panel of sportswriters and sportscasters named these four teams as the best in their class:

Class A—Benton Harbor (15-0). Class B—River Rouge (17-1). Class C—Capac (16-0). Class D—Gallen (16-0).

Gallen's selection in Class D will probably come as the greatest surprise to many cage fans, especially since Champion had been named top team in this class since the first poll nine weeks ago.

The final tabulation showed Gallen with 82 poll points and Champion with 81.

It was just as close in Class C where Ontonagon failed by a hair, 89-88, to regain the first place position it lost to Capac three weeks ago.

Benton Harbor and River Rouge led their classes all season long and were never threatened.

Saginaw Arthur Hill (15-0) finished in second place in Class A. Grosse Pointe (17-0), Grand Rapids South (15-0) and East Lansing (16-0) rounded out the top five.

Following River Rouge in Class B were Hudsonville Unity Christian (17-1), Ithaca (15-2), Lakeview (15-1) and Charlotte (14-1).

The next four places in Class C were taken by Ontonagon (17-1), a tie for third between Grosse Pointe St. Paul (16-1) and Cheboygan Catholic Central (16-0), and Perry (16-0).

In the close Class D race, Britton (16-0), Owosso St. Paul (14-2) and Brimley (16-2) completed the top five.

Two of the new champions will be in action tonight as the annual

In This Corner with Ray Crandall

Bill LeClaire, former Holy Name ace, scored six points in Northern Michigan College's final game of the regular season, a 103-71 victory over Hillsdale . . . John Lindenthal, a team mate on the Holy Name club that went undefeated last season, is a starter on the Santa Clara freshman team and has been the second high scorer in the last two games.

Ron Povo, a 5-9 sophomore, is the leading scorer on the Hermansville team that captured the Big Eight Conference championship and posted a 16-2 overall record . . . Povo tallied 321 points for an average of 17.8.

Latest Upper Peninsula kegler to spill a national honor count was Ken Best of Sawyer Air Base, rolling in the Marquette Olympic league . . . He rolled games of 257, 224 and 245 for a 726 total.

Coach Gordy Farrag started four sophomores and a junior in Kingsford's season finale against Iron Mountain, with the Flivvers posting a 55-48 victory . . . It marked the first time Kingsford has been able to beat the Mountaineers since 1958.

Marquette successfully defended its Great Lakes Conference junior varsity championship in last week's tournament . . . The Red-men defeated Soo 55-39 in the finals at Munising.

Bob Manning found the range for 31 points as Trout Creek closed its season with a 63-47 triumph over Ironwood St. Ambrose . . . The decision clinched third place in the final Porky Mountains Conference standings for Coach Bruce Warren's cagers.

Mass compiled a perfect season record in the Porky Mountains race, whipping Ewen 59-45 in the windup last weekend . . . It was the 12th straight in conference action and gave the Rockets a 17-2 season record.

Ontonagon, the Upper Peninsula's top-ranked Class C team, ended its season with a narrow 56-54 verdict over Baraga for a 17-1 season record . . . Outscored by six field goals, 25 to 19, the Polar Bears clicked on 18 of 29 free throws while Baraga had only seven chances and made four of them.

Two season finales for Upper Peninsula teams went into double overtime last weekend . . . The Soo Blue Devils, first foe for Escanaba in the Class A tourney at Marquette which opens Friday, nipped Traverse City 69-66 in two extra periods . . . Soo was outscored by six field goals, 23 to 22, but clicked on 27 of 41 free throws for the margin of victory . . . Dennis Porter and Jody Kline, both juniors, tallied 22 points apiece . . . A field goal by Ed Haapala with four seconds remaining gave Chassell a 47-45 edge over L'Anse in the other double overtime contest.

Coach Fritz Wilson's Houghton Gremlins, defending Upper Peninsula Class C champions, closed their season with a 52-45 triumph over Lake Linden . . . Houghton finished second to Ontonagon in the Copper Country Conference race and won 13 of 16 starts overall.

Coach Fred Boddy has guided his Champion Indians to 41 victories in 42 starts the past two seasons, the lone setback coming at the hands of the Brimley Bays in a state tournament quarterfinal game here last year . . . In reaching 609 points to cop the Upper Peninsula individual scoring championship this season, Billy Koski became only the third player in U. P. history to top 600 in a regular season . . . Jim Manning of Trout Creek and Irwin Scholtz of Hermansville were the only others to do it.

Bearcats Tighten First Place Grip

By The Associated Press

Cincinnati tightened its grip on the No. 1 position but a wave of upsets scrambled the rest of the Top Ten in The Associated Press' next-to-last college basketball poll of the season.

Only four places remained unchanged—Cincinnati, at the top; Duke, No. 2; Arizona State, No. 4; and Mississippi State, No. 7.

Ohio State, No. 3, and Wichita, No. 6, each leaped two rungs on the ladder, Loyola of Chicago, No. 5, and Illinois, No. 8, fell two spaces.

Stanford and Providence moved into the standings, taking over the Nos. 9 and 10 spots from New York University and Georgia Tech, both of whom suffered setbacks.

The Cincinnati Bearcats, who whipped Xavier of Ohio 72-61 and St. Louis 66-52, received 33 of the 42 first-place votes from a panel of sports writers and broadcasters. They collected 393 points on the basis of 10 for a first-place vote, 9 for second, etc.

Duke, which won the Atlantic Coast Conference tournament and increased its victory string to 18 games, collected eight of the remaining No. 1 votes with the other going to Providence.

Injured Packer May Quit Sport

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Green Bay Packer line backer Nelson Toburen, who missed the last five games of the 1962 National Football League season because of a serious neck injury, said Monday night that he may quit pro football.

Toburen, a 6-foot-4, 230-pound linebacker in his second year with the Packers, suffered a dislocated neck vertebra when he tackled Johnny Unitas of the Baltimore Colts Nov. 18 at Green Bay.

Big Ten Race Down To Wire

By The Associated Press

With both Ohio and Illinois winning Monday night, the Big Ten basketball title race goes down to the wire Saturday.

The Buckeyes, who have won the crown the last three years, were assured of at least a share of the championship by trimming the Gophers at Minneapolis 85-65. OSU has an 11-2 league mark and winds up Saturday at Indiana in a regionally televised game.

Illinois, dedicating its new assembly hall before a capacity crowd of 16,136 with a 79-73 triumph over Northwestern, has a 10-3 mark with a closing home game Saturday with Iowa.

An Ohio State loss and Illinois victory would make the two co-champions. Illinois would represent the Big Ten in the NCAA tournament since the Buckeyes have gone the last three years.

In other games Monday night, Indiana hit 34 of 38 free throws—the first 25 in a row—in downing Michigan 104-96. Purdue took Michigan State 94-93, and Wisconsin defeated Iowa 75-69.

Minnesota ended its campaign with an 8-6 record and Purdue wound up with 2-12.

In other finals Saturday, Michigan is at Wisconsin and MSU at Northwestern.

Rotary Hears Talk On Libya

An interesting illustrated story of the customs, traditions and unusual superstitions of the people and country of Libya, Africa, was told to Gladstone Rotarians yesterday by Thomas G. Newport, of Escanaba, engineer with the U. S. Department of Interior Geological Survey.

Newport, who spent two years and four months there with his family on a federal geological assignment, emphasized that education ultimately is the answer to progress in this and other African nations.

"When Libya gained independence in 1952 from the United Nations it had only 50 college graduates in the entire country, very little education of any kind and none on the university level," Newport said. "There has been some progress in the past 10 years. A university has been started."

Newport was stationed in Benghazi, the second capital of Libya, but his work took him to many remote desert locations inland, as far as 300 to 500 miles south of the Mediterranean coast. Libya's second capital is Tripoli and it is a Moslem nation.

"This is not unusual in Libya," he said. "The philosophy of the people is 'might is right and live for today—there is no tomorrow.' Alternating capital cities is a way of life... let each have its chance at the easy grab."

Beautiful color slides of the desert nation were shown by Newport to illustrate his talk. They included pictures of pigeons, fox, gazelle and other sparse game life and scenes of natives clearing mine fields in North Africa... still a hazard from World War II days.

Student guests were Tom Vanlerberghe and Leonard Sabourin. Other guests were Art Laughter, James G. Ward of Escanaba Rotary and Richard Rinehart, head of Bay de Noc Community College.

Bay de Noc Chamber Members At Detroit Show

Five members of the Bay de Noc Chamber of Commerce are representing that organization at the Detroit Boat and Travel Show this week.

They are Sally Sayer, of St. Jacques; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Boyd, of Tremont; and Mr. and Mrs. Ted Kremmick, of Garden Corners.

In addition to distributing the tourist pamphlets published by the Bay Chamber they are helping to distribute the Delta County Tourist Tabloid published by the Escanaba Daily Press in cooperation with the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce.

Previously, the pamphlet and tabloid were distributed in Chicago and will later be distributed at outdoor, travel and sport shows in Cleveland, Indianapolis, Minneapolis and Milwaukee.

Twenty thousand copies of the tabloid are being given to prospective tourists in the big Midwest shows, and 10,500 copies will be distributed throughout the Daily Press circulation as part of its regular edition during Michigan Week in May.

Walter Lewke, Escanaba Chamber of Commerce secretary, worked the Delta County booth at Chicago and also at Detroit this past weekend.

Menominee County MEA Recommends $4,400 Pay Base

Menominee County District of the Michigan Education Association meeting at Carney recently recommended a starting salary for beginning teachers with a bachelor's degree of $4,400.

Educators said that this salary level is necessary to keep quality teachers available and to permit schools systems to compete for them.

An index plan which expresses teacher salary increments as percentages of a base salary rather than in terms of dollars was discussed and rated an improvement over the present conventional schedule as it provides for long range scheduling and equitable differentials for experience and training.
